GEORGETOWN AND ITS AFFAIRS.

GEORGETOWN, July 12-12 m. A BETTER DAY DAWNING.—Mayor Addison laid before the two Boards of the Corporation last night a communication informing them that he had received a letter from G. W. Riggs, esq., informing him of his intention to enter extensively into the coal business and the establishment of a depot in our town, and calling the corporate authorities to the condition of the bridges over the canal east of High street, they not being of sufficient height to allow the largest class coal-boats to pass under them when light. It is to be hoped that the Corporation will render every facility in their power, so that the ball may be set in motion, and then I have no doubt there will be plenty to keep it moving.

The steamer Salem returned last night at half-past eight o'clock, after proceeding down as far as the White House. Nothing occurred to disturb the enjoyments of those on board, and all were highly pleased with the trip. I understand that St. John's Sabbath School intend making an excursion up the canal.

Our market was well supplied this morning with meats, butter, eggs, and every kind of vegetables. All went off briskly, and the lastnamed articles at enormously high prices: for instance, $1 per peck for tomatoes.

The flour and grain market remains unchanged. Flour firm at $4.121; wheat, 85@ 90c. Corn has improved, and is worth 56@ 58c. for yellow, and 60@62c. for white. Oats, none in market.

EXTRAORDINARY CASE.—We find revealed in the Upland (Pa.) Union the following marvellous case:

About six weeks since John H. Taylor, of Edgmont, in this county, was severely wounded by the bursting of his gun. The breech blew out, struck him on the forehead, between the corner of the eye and the nose, making a wound that was for several days considered dangerous. He recovered slowly, and was able to go about upon his farm and give directions about his

On Wednesday or Thursday of last week, Dr. Aitken discovered that the breech of the gun was in Mr. Taylor's forehead, having passed in below the region of the brain. Doctors Gregg and Huddleson were called, and the three physicians, after a severe effort by the use of the forceps, extracted the iron, which was nearly three inches in length, half an inch thick, and varying from three quarters to an inch in breadth. The removing of the iron was a severe operation for the patient; but we learn since hat he is more comfortable than before, and improving in strength. Mr. Taylor's escap-from instant death comes within the miraculous and the long continuance of such a mass of iron in his head, so near the brain, is almost incredible, but it is most certainly true.

"No matches allowed on board," is a regulation of the down-east steamers. That is because there are so many sparks around. Another regulation is that "No extra hazardous freights will be taken." J. N. Harris, esq.—Dear Sir: You will recollect when I saw you in New London, in January last, my expressing to you my most sanguine expectations that Davis's Pain Killers would have a tremendous sale in the West this season, and my anticipations have been more than realized, and the testimony of thousands who have used it has been, that they would not be willing to go to bed at night without it in the house.

On the appearance of the cholers in this city, such was the confidence in the Pain Killer as a remedy, that many who purchased if remarked to me that they had no fears or dread of the cholera as long as they had the Pain Killer by them, and hundreds took it daily as a preventive, for no person can have a derangement of the bowels or diarrhea if they use this medicine daily. This was the security and confidence of hundreds acquainted with it, and when their friends were attacked with the cholera, they would administer this remedy in large quantities internally, and also externally, by bathing and rubbing them with it; and in every case where it has been taken in any of the first stages of this disease it has proved successful. I consider it an infallible remedy. I have not heard of an individual in any family who used the Pain Killer when attacked, but speciliy recovered.

Captain Broadwell, of the steamer Atlantic, a New Or-

Captain Broadwell, of the steamer Atlantic, a New Orleans packet, informed me that, on one of his trips up the river to this city, there were upward of seventy cases of cholers on board, and the Pain Killer was used with complete and triumphant success.

The Clerk informed me that he had administered it to presents when cold and in the craws, and it tray impropersons when cold and in the craws. The Clerk informed me that he had administered it to persons when cold and in the cramps, and it gave immediate relief; but still it should be given quickly, for when the discharge of "rice water" has begun, the hope of life has fled. Should this disease make its appearance among you, as in all probability it will, be not alarmed; you and all others there have the remedy, and I am confident if the Pain Killer is used, not a death by cholera will occur in your city.

If the cholera comes among you watch its progress and If the cholera comes among you watch its progress and the remedy use, and, mark my isords, the family whe uses the Pain Killer daily will have no diarcheea, no disarrangement of the bowels, and consequently no cholera. If those who are attacked will use the Pain Killer early and thoroughly, they will be saved. This has been the experience of hundreds in this city during the ravages of this dreadful disease.

I have not been able to supply one-fourth of the demand. I have received orders from persons begging me to send them some ENLARGED AND IMPROVED, compiled chiefly from the Magnum Totius Latinitatis Lexicon at Facciolati and Forcellini, and the German works of Scheller and Lue-memann, embracing, also, the classical distinctions of words, and the Etymological Index from Freund's Lexi words, and the Etymological Index from Freund's Lexicon.

The present edition of this standard and favorite Latin Lexicon has been much improved by the transfer to its columns of the classical distinctions of Latin words, as given in the Lexicon of Dr. Wm. Freund, of Germany, and translated by Riddle. The classical degree of each word is indicated by Riddle. The classical degree of each word is indicated by Riddle. The classical degree of each word is indicated by Riddle. The classical without a figure is fully classical and Ciceronian; with the figures 1, 2, and 3, words are classical only in the first, second, &c., degrees; and this distinction the student perceives at a glance. The Etymological Index, also from Freund's Lexicon, has been incorporated into the present edition of Leverett, and will be found a valuable acquisition. While transferring these notes and marks, catalogues were carefully kept of the words found in each Lexicon, which were not found in the other. On comparing these catalogues, it was found that the value and importance of the additional words found in Leverett, so far as a knowledge of the Latin language is concerned, very far exceeds that of those found in Riddle's Freund. The extensive use of Leverett's Lexicon in all parts of the country, and the preference which has been universally given to it over all similar works, render its recommendation superfluous; but attention to this new edition is respectfully invited, as being still more worthy than its predecessors of the distinguished favor which the work has hitherto received.

Mr. Fobert Sears—Dear Sir: I have looked over the entire series of your valuable publications with much interest and profit; and am quite surprised at the amount of literary labor you have performed, and the research it must have cost you to obtain so many fine illustrations, while you have an active superintendence of an extensive business. I am also gratified at the decidedly moral and religious influence which your books will exert, and cannot but hope that they will do much to counteract the effects of that light and immoral literature which deluges the land, and, like the frogs of Egypt, comes up even to the kneading troughs of our kitchens. May you live long to follow your plans.
